BOARD OF OVERSEERS ANNUAL REPORT 2025-2026

Greetings to our brothers and sisters of the General Association of General Baptists. This report highlights actions of the Board of Overseers from September 2025 through June 2026. The Board of Overseers serves to provide oversight directly to the office of the President and the ministries of General Baptists.

Organizational Leadership and Governance

The terms of three Overseers expired in 2025, and we wish to recognize Scott Williamson, Jared Frantz and Thomas Pugh for their service to the Association. Two positions were filled through the Regional voting structure, while the Great Lakes position was left vacant. In November 2025, the Board voted to fill a 2-year term for the Great Lakes Region with the appointment of Diana Harrison.

We entered 2026 with a full complement of Overseers, including three new members: Gordon Edwards, Diana Harrison, and Jon Wesley Kirby. At the January organizational meeting, Pastor Barry Cullen was elected Chair, and Heather Pritchett Horner was elected Vice Chair. We confirmed the corporation officers: Dr. Danny Dunivan as President, Carol Lawrence as Secretary, and Linda McDonough as Treasurer. Overseer committee assignments and the regions they represent are listed in the chart below.

Board of Overseers Members 2026

EXPIRING	MEMBER	TERM / REGION	ROLE
2026	Brian Burris	1st term - Midwest/California	Personnel Chair
2026	Josh Slater	1st term - Ohio River	Finance
2027	Andy Mathias	1st term - Tennessee River	Personnel
2027	Justin Rose	1st term - Great Lakes	Personnel
2027	Jim Schremp	1st term - South Central	Finance Chair
2028	Heather Pritchett Horner	1st term - Midwest/California	Vice Chair
2028	Barry Cullen	2nd term - Ohio River	Chair
2028	Pete Lapaz	1st term - Southeast/Jamaica	Finance
2029	JonWesley Kirby	1st term - Tennessee River	Finance
2029	Diana Harrison	appointed by the board for Great Lakes	Personnel
2029	Gordon Edwards	1st term - South Central	Finance
2030	David Washington	1st term - Southeast and Jamaica, elected in February 2026	Personnel

Financial Stewardship and Development

The Overseers reviewed the proposed budget for 2026 and approved it in November 2025. A brief summary of the 2026 budget is provided below. We approved the engagement of Beussink, Hey, Roe & Stroder, LLC for our annual audits and reviews. For the year ending December 31, 2025, they reported that the financial statements for the General Association, the Pension Plan and the General Baptist Foundation were fairly stated with no material concerns noted.

2026 Budget

INCOME
Unified Giving	$1,300,000
Global Missions	$1,367,000
National Mission	$6,500
Church Health	$24,500
Events	$42,000
Other Unrestricted Income	$206,600
Other Restricted Income	$452,000
Grand Total Income	$3,398,600
EXPENSES
Operations	$1,412,209
Global Missions	$1,494,400
National Missions	$184,000
Church Health	$53,100
Events	$124,850
Other Restricted Expenses	$130,000
Grand Total Expenses	$3,398,559
Net profit	$41

Dr. Danny Dunivan continues to make progress with JD Levy & Associates in implementing a fundraising development plan that includes improving donor engagement and major gifts initiatives. The hiring of a full-time Director of Development is planned for the 2026-27 operating year.

Oakland City University

The Board of Overseers is aware of the news reports about Oakland City University. We are grieved by the loss of this long-standing partner of General Baptists and we care deeply about the people impacted. However, Oakland City University is no longer legally affiliated with General Baptists. The Board of Trustees of Oakland City University made the decision in late 2023 to end its legal affiliation with the General Association. This was not an action taken by the Board of Overseers or General Baptist Ministries. All decisions since then have been made by the administration and the Board of Trustees of Oakland City University. We are not in a position to comment on the university's finances or future plans. Questions about the university should be directed to Oakland City University.

Strategic Planning and Missional Alignment

The Organizational Playbook is a living document developed by Dr. Dunivan and the cabinet to provide clarity on how General Baptist Ministries operates to inspire and equip local churches to make disciples for Christ. The Overseers review the playbook with President Dunivan at each of our meetings and have discussions with the vice presidents of the various core ministries periodically. We approved the results of the 2025-26 playbook, and have approved the contents and plans of the 2026-27 edition.

Dr. Dunivan is working with the vice presidents to evaluate ministry operations through the lens of missiology and ensure that each of the core ministries will move toward alignment with the mission that God has given his people: to rescue and renew creation through Jesus Christ.

Ministry Advancements and Personnel

The Church Leadership Pathway is progressing as planned. Adjustments are being made to host Church Leadership One Day events in conjunction with Regional meetings and Summit. Interest has grown for Church Leader Assessments so that additional dates and locations may be needed. The Church Leadership Development tracks of Leadership and Theology courses are both gaining participants and functioning well. A new cohort is being launched this week in the Church Leadership Network, and February will see the first Church Leadership Conference.

Church Health is a key component of equipping local churches to reach people with the gospel. The Church Health Assessment is available to individual churches, providing the opportunity for in-depth evaluation of their strengths and weaknesses, followed by resources and support to improve the health of their ministry. Annual Church Health reports from local churches can now be submitted online. Networking cohorts and coaching for improving church health are being planned.

Dustin Thompson, Vice President for Regional Ministries, moved to a full-time position in June 2026. His responsibilities will expand to include project management and developing systems to improve the operations of the core ministries.

The Personnel committee evaluated Dr. Danny Dunivan in 2025 and commended him as a trusted, visionary leader who has strengthened financial sustainability and organizational reputation. Dr. Dunivan is providing outstanding leadership for General Baptist Ministries and continues to be a strong asset to the General Baptist association.

Closing Remarks

The Board of Overseers exists to ensure the most effective means of fulfilling God's will and purpose for the people of God called General Baptists. We affirm Dr. Dunivan in his vision to align General Baptist Ministries with a missiological framework that prioritizes reaching all people with the message of redemption and renewal through Jesus Christ.

Due to the ongoing illness of the Chair, Barry Cullen, the Vice Chair has fulfilled the duty of preparing this report.

We ask for your prayers as we continue to serve the General Association of General Baptists as your representatives to guide our churches and ministries to improved health, missiological clarity, and disciple-making.

Respectfully Submitted,

Heather Pritchett Horner

GENERAL ASSOCIATION REPORT

Danny Dunivan, President

President's Report

Mission and Ministry Summit 2026

This report offers a snapshot of where General Baptist Ministries stands at the close of one planning year and the beginning of another. It gathers together why we exist, what we are learning, where we have seen progress, and the direction of our work for the next season.

The center remains the same as it has over the last several years because our mission is the same. General Baptist Ministries exists for the church so that every local congregation can faithfully fulfill the Great Commission. Because what local churches do matters, the work we do together matters.

Answering the Essential Questions

Missiological Frame

Primary Question: What theological vision shapes our mission?

God has a mission in the world, and he chooses a people in order to accomplish that mission. The church exists as the elect people of God (chosen not merely to belong, but to be sent) for the sake of God's intention to rescue and renew creation through Jesus Christ.

Mission

Primary Question: Why do we exist?

General Baptists believe that Christ died for all people, offering salvation to everyone, not just a predetermined few. This conviction gives urgency to our activity in the world. What we do matters because someone's eternity is at stake. We take that responsibility seriously. Every act of witness, every work of mercy, every person who says yes to God's call to "Go" is a faithful response to Christ's commission to make disciples of all nations.

Because of this divine calling and the weight of such a mission, General Baptist churches have chosen to create General Baptist Ministries. God has called us to exist for the church. We do not exist so churches can support us; we exist to empower and equip them. Our mission is to enable every local church to fulfill the Great Commission. Whether by helping a church become more effective in its own community or by extending its ministry into others across the U.S. and around the world, our core purpose is always directed outward—for churches, because what they do matters.

Core Values

Primary Question: How do we behave?

The General Association of General Baptists

We are passionate about our shared mission to freely preach the gospel to every person in ways that honor their local context. As a result, we value cooperation over uniformity. Our diversity in practice, personality, and tradition has never been an accident. It is part of our theological and organizational DNA. This cooperative spirit has been a strength across generations, even when it has occasionally led to dysfunction. We choose unity in mission over sameness in method.

Our mission is always the ultimate priority over the preservation of any aspect of our collective structure. God has chosen and formed us not to protect ourselves and our systems, but to bear witness to Christ for the sake of others. Therefore, we are always willing to forsake what we have been to pursue what God is calling us to today.

The needs of the local church always come first. We believe the local church is God's primary vessel for carrying out the Great Commission. Christ is uniquely present in the local gathering of believers, and it is there that disciples are made, communities are transformed, and the gospel is embodied. While General Baptist Ministries serves a vital support role, we are not the main expression of the Church—local congregations are. This value often shows up in the deep respect we have for church autonomy; however, a “local church first” value is also about recognizing that God's redemptive work happens most directly through local churches on mission in their communities.

General Baptist Ministries

We are called by God to exist FOR THE CHURCH . . .

Partners First—Our work is not to serve our needs, secure our future, or build our platform. The local church is God's chosen vessel for his redemptive work in the world, and we exist to serve that work. That means we simplify processes to remove barriers; we return calls and texts from those seeking help; we do our jobs so churches and their leaders get what they need. We exist so that General Baptists can do more together than they could ever do alone, but we never forget that it is the church's mission that matters, and it is them we are FOR.

Embracing Plurality—The churches we serve are not uniform, and we do not ask them to be. General Baptists have always understood that the gospel takes flesh differently in different places, cultures, and traditions. Such differences are not a problem to manage but a mark of the work of the Holy Spirit. We bring our best to all of our partners, letting the breadth of their diversity shape how we serve rather than asking them to fit our preferences. Uniformity is never the goal. Faithful witness in every local context always is.

. . . and WHAT WE DO MATTERS

Stewardship—Our resources are not our own. We have been entrusted with them by General Baptists and ultimately by God. However, trust demands more than good intentions. It demands care and accountability. Inefficiency and neglect are never spiritually neutral. The weight of eternity is in the balance, and we take that seriously in everything we do, including the ordinary work of being excellent in our daily operations.

Humble Transparency—We trade in relationships. Trust is the foundation of relationships, and transparency is the foundation of trust. Even when we could make ourselves look right, we choose to serve the mission first.

Collaboration—Our common work is more important than any individual. We seek results over correctness or praise. The work of one is the work of all, so we are responsible for each other's performance and to each other for our own.

Hopeful Truth-Telling—We tell and face the truth, even when it is uncomfortable and even when it costs us something. As a result, we resist the pull to spin information to what we, or our partners, want to hear rather than what needs to be said. But we never tell hard truths without hope, because our confidence is not in our own capacity but in the mission we serve and the God who calls us to it.

Consistency—We pursue and celebrate steady, faithful progress, knowing that lasting impact comes through increments rather than sudden change. We show up faithfully even when the work is ordinary.

Operational Definition

Primary Question: What do we do?

We inspire and equip churches to make disciples for Christ. General Baptist Ministries is not called to make disciples directly. That task belongs to the local church. But because we exist for the church, our role is to inspire and equip churches in fulfilling their God-given mission. When churches thrive in disciple-making, we are fulfilling our purpose.

Strategic Anchors

Primary Question: How will we succeed?

To accomplish our mission, we focus on three strategic anchors—core commitments that guide everything we do:

1. We cultivate a connected association of churches.

We have always understood that churches are stronger together than apart. We invest in relationships, partnerships, a community of learning, and shared worship to bind our churches to one another and to a common mission. A connected association leads to more faithful churches.

2. We develop healthy leaders.

We invest in leaders who are bold, faithful, and clear in their calling. From initial discernment to long-term development, we equip pastors and ministry leaders to serve well and lead others. The most effective investment we can make for the health of our churches is in the development of their leaders.

3. We multiply the mission through church planting and global engagement.

We believe Christ died for all, and that belief compels us to go. We also believe healthy churches are missional churches. We help churches become sending centers by planting new churches, engaging in global missions, and supporting leaders who carry the gospel to new places. We hold our structures loosely and our calling tightly.

Wins From 2025-2026

Leadership development moved from plan to pathway

The Church Leadership Pathway continued moving from concept to operating system. Since Summit last year, there have been 282 engagements (e.g., course registrations, event attendance, cohort participation) in CLP, including 92 registrations in the Church Leadership Development courses portion of the Pathway. We are using peer review and user feedback to improve leadership and theological course content, clarify alignment between courses, and create a more user-friendly experience for participants.

A church subscription option for Church Leadership Development courses has been developed and will launch with our Fall courses, providing a practical way for churches to invest in as many leaders as they wish. These Church Partnership Plans have the following costs:

- 400+ Average Attendance— $1,000/year
- 150–399 Average Attendance— $500/year
- 50–149 Average Attendance— $250/year
- Under 50 Average Attendance— $100/year

Because of the Lilly Endowment grant, churches in Indiana receive a 75% scholarship from these prices.

Individual course registrations are still available at $100 per course.

Regional One Day events now provide an on-ramp into the Church Leadership Pathway, and a Church Leadership Conference will be held in February in Destin, Florida. To sign up for these, you can find the links in the Summit 2026 app or find more information at generalbaptist.com.

Church Health is becoming more practical for our churches

The Church Health Assessment is moving beyond beta testing and is now being actively used by churches. We continue collecting information, conducting follow-up conversations, and providing assessments with practical recommendations, resources, and next steps. We want your church to fulfill your mission in your community, and engaging with the Church Health Assessment is an excellent way to evaluate where you are and take the next steps in leading your church. If you are interested in your church going through a Church Health Assessment, go to generalbaptist.com/church-health/

Missions remains active and is building towards the future

Across global fields, the work is generally healthy, active, and moving forward. The Philippines continues strong growth with more than 300 churches and more than 1,000 baptisms each year. Honduras now has 19 General Baptist churches and 48 recent Honduras Bible Institute graduates. India continues as an expanding field with more than 100 churches and prayer houses across the Calvary Grace Association and the India Association.

There were also meaningful signs of gospel fruit and faithful partnership elsewhere: more than 20 youth came to Christ in Guam, nearly $50,000 was raised toward Saipan typhoon relief, and national leaders continue to carry ministry forward in several fields. The Global Field Assessment Project and Mission One redevelopment are helping us align mission practice with our missiology.

National Missions is also preparing for the next season through Called to Send, a five-year initiative to build a culture of multiplication by identifying and developing church planters, launching healthy churches, strengthening partnerships, caring for planters, and helping every General Baptist church participate in sending. We are excited to see the success of City Light Church in Bowling Green, Kentucky, with Pastor Brennan Washington. This next year will also see the launch of Cedar City Church in Lebanon, Tennessee, with Pastor Hansel Morell.

Organizational capacity took real steps forward

In 2025, the Lilly Endowment invited GBM to plan for and submit a grant for building capacity to serve our churches, especially those in Indiana (where Lilly is located). We received $50,000 for planning, and then a $600,000 implementation grant (with a required $300,000 match from donations). The Church Leadership Pathway, Church Health Pathway, development systems, and staffing structure are all funded by these grants. Each of them positions GBM for better service to our churches.

We have also contracted JD Levy and Associates from Jasper, Indiana, to assist us through this process. They are helping GBM move from isolated fundraising activity toward a fuller development strategy. The current plan also anticipates a Director of Development role and continued outside support, all funded through the Lilly grant.

Vision and Direction for 2026-2027

We enter this next season with a settled sense of mission. What remains is the completion of alignment between mission, operations, and the theological framework that holds them together.

Missiological clarity

Missiology does not replace mission. It gives us the theological grammar for why our mission takes the shape it does and how our strategies belong together. Without missiology, we can pursue parallel initiatives that are individually good but collectively unfocused.

Our missiology is tied to four commitments (pillars) that must shape our work in all its contexts: evangelistic urgency, focus on indigenous/contextualized ministry, multiplication, and the priority of the local church. God has a mission in the world, and therefore, he has a people to accomplish it. What we do matters because it all points to God's work to redeem. That gives our work extraordinary urgency. That mission is also larger than any place or culture, so we must never limit it to one or allow one culture to dominate, as we are sent into the world. This mission is also more than any leader or church can accomplish, so we must intentionally multiply the work through developing new leaders and planting new churches. Through it all, we believe this mission is tied to the health of local churches, so they remain our priority as we pursue God's mission among us.

Excellence in operations and service

Theological clarity also demands credibility of practice. An organization that exists for the church must embody in its internal life the same faithfulness it seeks to cultivate in churches and leaders. Excellence in service is not an add-on to mission; it is one way mission becomes tangible.

If processes are unclear, commitments are hard to track, or communication is inconsistent, churches feel the weight of that. If systems remove barriers, communicate clearly, and help leaders take the next faithful step, churches experience an organization that means what it says.

These two focuses belong together

Missiological clarity keeps operations from becoming efficient but directionless. Operational excellence keeps missiology from remaining articulated but uninhabited. Together, they determine whether GBM truly understands what it means to exist for the church and whether that understanding is made credible in how we serve.

Strategic Plan for 2026-2027

Objective 1: Articulate and align GBM to a clear missiology.

The first objective is to articulate and align GBM to a missiology rooted in evangelistic urgency, indigenous/contextual ministry, multiplication, and the priority of the local church. This includes communicating the missiology at Summit, developing church-facing resources, reviewing national and global partnerships, and embedding shared missiological language into major programs and pathways.

Objective 2: Build a clearly defined engagement system.

The second objective is to help churches, leaders, donors, students, mission participants, and partners know their next step. The playbook identifies five primary engagement pathways: Church Leadership Pathway, Church Health, missions, events, and giving. The work is to define the pathways, clarify the role of association, build a donor development pathway, and make next steps clearer for each audience.

Objective 3: Build a unified communications strategy and rhythm.

The third objective is to turn vision into clarity, clarity into trust, and trust into engagement. This includes a communications audit, an annual communications strategy and calendar, a shared messaging vocabulary, a story archive, more mission-aligned stories, and stronger internal communication rhythms.

Objective 4: Strengthen operational and administrative systems.

The fourth objective is to prioritize excellence for our churches by strengthening systems for tracking commitments, clarifying roles and responsibilities, aligning workflows around strategic priorities, designing systems around the churches' experiences, and improving physical, digital, and relational workspaces.

Next Steps for Churches and Leaders

- Submit accurate and complete Church Health Report data.
- Request or participate in a Church Health Assessment when your church is ready for the next conversation.
- Use the Church Leadership Pathway to identify, train, and develop leaders in your congregation.
- Participate in regional events and association conversations that strengthen our connection to one another.
- Help cultivate a sending culture through prayer, giving, short-term mission participation, and openness to church planting.
- Pray for our churches, leaders, missionaries, and staff as we seek to be faithful for the church.

A Closing Word

The work before us is not small, but it is clear. We are for the church. We are called to help churches make disciples, develop leaders, strengthen mission, and take faithful next steps. This year, our task is to align what we believe, what we say, and how we serve so that our shared mission becomes more credible, more coherent, and more fruitful.

What local churches do matters. Because of that, what we do together matters.

SOCIAL ISSUES COMMISSION 2026

The Social Issues Commission has engaged in prayerful reflections, thoughtful email dialogue, and careful consideration regarding the current Social Principles of our association. Following this process, we respectfully submit our recommendation.

At this time, the committee unanimously affirms that no changes are needed to the existing Social Principles. We believe they continue to faithfully reflect biblical truth, uphold our shared convictions, and provide wise guidance for the life and witness of our fellowship.

We offer this recommendation with humility and a continued commitment to seek the Lord's direction in all matters. We remain grateful for the opportunity to serve and stand ready to assist the Association in any way needed. Thank you for your trust and partnership in the work of the Kingdom.

In Christ, Noel Dye (Chairperson), Jonah Carpenter, and Adam Mathias

WOMEN'S MINISTRIES REPORT

Kris Pratt – President

Mission Statement

Inspiring and empowering women to find their God-given potential.

Everything we do flows from this mission statement. Through our Regional Events, Summit Breakout Sessions, Inside Out Fall Conference, Boundless Blogs, and social media outreach, we seek to encourage women through Bible study, personal spiritual growth, and church-led opportunities that help women lead, serve, and thrive.

2025 Ministry Highlights

- Maintained our status as the #1 financial supporter of Global Missions.
- Directed 75% of all donations toward mission outreach efforts.
- Supported our 2025 Banner Cause: GBBC Prayer Garden in Davao City, Philippines.
 - Exceeded our goal by raising $12,226.
 - The prayer garden has been completed and is now being actively used for:
 - Bible studies
 - Prayer gatherings
 - Fellowship among students, faculty, parents, and community members

2026 Theme: Created for Such a Time as This

"Perhaps you were created for such a time as this." — Esther 4:14

This year's theme emphasizes the many ways God has uniquely created us and His purpose for our lives. Some of the areas of focus included:

- Created for Joy
- Created for Peace
- Created for Purpose
- Created for Prayer

Throughout the year, we are encouraging women to embrace their God-given identity and calling as they serve Him in their homes, churches, communities, and beyond.

Regional Events

Our Regional Events have been a tremendous blessing this year, with six events and more than 600 women in attendance. These gatherings continue to provide encouragement, fellowship, worship, and spiritual growth opportunities for women across our ministry regions.

We were also blessed to welcome four new Regional Directors:

- Karlee Wright — Missouri/Arkansas Region
- Stephanie Pleskach — Kentucky Region
- Shelby Glassco — Southern Indiana Region
- Heather Oxley — Southern Indiana Region

We are grateful for their willingness to serve and for the leadership they bring to Women's Ministries.

Inside Out Conference

We are currently preparing for our annual Inside Out Conference, which will be held at Skyline Church in O'Fallon, Illinois, on September 18–19.

I encourage women of all ages to join us as we focus on the importance of community, prayer, and joy in the midst of everyday life. This conference serves as a reminder that God still has a purpose for each of us right where we are. Through worship, fellowship, and biblical teaching, women will be challenged and encouraged to live out God's calling with confidence and faith.

Thank you for your continued partnership, prayers, and support as we work together to inspire and empower women to find their God-given potential. Women's Ministries Kris Pratt-President

Our Mission statement: Inspiring and empowering women to find their God potential.

Everything we do flows from this statement. From our Regional Events, Summit Breakout, Inside Out Fall conference, Boundless Blogs and even our Facebook postings. We live this out by encouraging: Bible study, personal spiritual growth, and Church-led opportunities for women to lead and thrive.

Stinson Press
2026 Report to the
General Association of General Baptists

As General Manager of Stinson Press, I appreciate the opportunity to provide an update on the work we're doing and the ways Stinson Press continues to support the ministry of the General Baptists. Please see below for some of our new updates.

- Christian Book Store: The store has been newly remodeled and stocked. We are now carrying a larger inventory, including a wider selection of faith-based gifts.
- New Direct-to-Film (DTF) Printing: We have acquired new equipment for T-shirt printing. This allows us to offer faster turnaround times and print full-color designs at a much lower cost than traditional screen printing.
- Laser Services: We now offer custom laser engraving for church plaques, medals, awards, and custom leather items.
- Online Fundraising Stores (Chippily): We have launched Chippily online stores. This allows us to set up online apparel shops for church and youth group fundraisers at no cost to the organization.

- Upgraded Digital Press: We have upgraded our digital paper press to deliver top-quality paper printing.

At Stinson Press, we are honored to publish the General Baptist Adult Bible Class literature written and edited by General Baptists. Our curriculum is developed by a talented team of writers who are faithfully serving as leaders in their local General Baptist churches, bringing both biblical knowledge and real-life ministry experience to every lesson.

Looking Ahead: We are actively reviewing our production and services to evaluate how we can better serve you and the denomination. Stinson Press offers a wide array of services that you may not be aware of. If you or your church find yourselves in need of any signage, shirts, printing, fundraising orders, VBS materials, or church supplies, we would be grateful for the opportunity to assist you.

Respectfully,

Levi Casey
